Title: Industrial Visit to Jay Jay Mills India Private Limited

The MBA students recently visited Jay Jay Mills in Peruduari, where they gained valuable insights into the various stages of the garment manufacturing process. During the visit, the students were given a comprehensive tour that covered the entire workflow, from initial product development to the intricate details of the embroidery section. They observed how raw materials are transformed into finished garments through a series of carefully coordinated steps, including cutting, stitching, and quality control. The product development section highlighted the importance of innovation and design in meeting market demands, while the embroidery section showcased the skilled craftsmanship involved in adding intricate patterns and embellishments to the garments. This visit provided the students with a practical understanding of the complexities involved in garment production and the role of each department in ensuring high-quality outputs.

Outcome of the Industrial Visit:

- Exposure to the industry environment and processes
- Importance of quality control measures in ensuring the production of high-standard garments
- Insight into Product Development
